

WANTS TITLE KEPT IN FAMILY

CHAMPION LEONARD TRAINS BROTHER

JOEY, THE SMALLER FIGURE TO THE LEFT; LEONARD, THE LARGER ONE TO THE RIGHT

By ROB DORMAN

Leonard, when they get to be a little older, how to them titles—not to whom they are them.

Leonard, premier light-weight, who is keeping the championship in his own family. A champion is an asset to a family, he believes. He can't be a title holder, but he wants his successor to be Leonard, too.

He has been training his brother, Joey, the way he should go. He never yet faced an opponent in a fight, but Billy Gib-

Just a Couple More Records Ty Yarns For

Ty Cobb holds a score or more records in the American league. The name Cobb is everywhere in the list of notable major league feats, yet Cobb isn't quite satisfied.

True, Cobb is slapping. No athlete could travel the way that he has and not show the effects. The remarkable thing about him is that he has stood the pace so long, before the slowing up process started in.

Cobb no longer goes down to first with the old time speed. He no longer takes the wild chances on the bases that was once a part of his daily routine.

FATHER TIME CUTTING IN

Father Time has cut in on Cobb. He has called a slight halt at least. A perusal of the American league records shows that Cobb holds about every coveted honor. There are two major league exceptions, the home-run title and the consecutive batting record.

Babe Ruth probably has monopolized the home-run honors for all time. His mark of 59 homers is going to stand for many a year, unless he breaks it himself. It is a record that seems entirely beyond Cobb's possibilities, despite his acknowledged greatness.

ONE MORE HONOR

The other honor Cobb is shooting at and hopes eventually to hit is the record for the consecutive .300 batting record.

That honor is now held by Honus Wagner, with 17 consecutive years in which he has hit .300 or better. Cobb is a close second, with 14 years. The way he is going this year makes it almost a certainty that Wagner will be forced to share the title.

In 1923 Cobb says he will break it.

IDAHO UNIVERSITY WILL PLAY GONZAGA

SPOKANE, Wash., June 15.—Arrangements for a football game with the college of Puget sound at Tacoma on October 7, have been made by Coach Dorais of the Gonzaga Bulldogs. It is announced here. The game will be the first of the season for the local team.

It is also announced that a game will be played on the Gonzaga field against the University of Idaho eleven, on November 25. Original negotiations had provided for a Gonzaga-Idaho game on September 30, but later a place for the Gonzaga game was found on Idaho's schedule at the close of the season.

Another Record?

Dear Sir: In a ball game played between the Englewood Field and the Crescent Athletic club some twelve years ago, Royden Morris, of Yale, who was pitching for Englewood that day, was the first man at bat in the third inning. He hit a home run. He came up again in the same inning with two on, and hit another home run. Are there any records of any one else hitting two home runs in a single inning?

to be under way at the right moment for the British open and he will be one of the main opponents that Hutchinson, Barnes and Hagen must watch. In any type of championship winning, a title usually consists of being right at the right time.

"Engine Criguel coming over to fight-Kilbane." What Eugene needs on the side is a transport full of endarmes to round up Kilbane and persuade him to sign on the dotted line. Johnny has discovered that one of the best ways to carry a crown is to keep it locked up in a steel safe while waiting all challengers gently to one side.

THE MAIN HAZARD

The hardest detail in any game played with a ball and club is not to hit too soon.

This applies to baseball, golf, tennis and polo.

There is usually a certain restful keenness—an almost uncontrollable desire to let one fly before the swing has picked up its impetus. This early hitting not only destroys rhythm, but also applies power at the wrong spot. Cobb once remarked that he was hitting best on those days when he waited until the ball was almost over the plate.

Since it is almost entirely a mental fault, it can only be cured by practice at curbing some of the eagerness that overflows from one's soul, by developing the mental attitude of not being in a hurry to hit.

"What about Harry Greb?" one might ask in this connection. Greb is certainly in a hurry to hit. But Greb isn't bothering with timing any waiting or with the application of power. He isn't a knocker-out. His one in-

Lauder Observes Memorial Day

Even in London, Sir Harry Lauder didn't forget American Memorial Day. Here he is on his way to the Lincoln statue, bearing a wreath. An American flag at right.

Honoring Canine War Heroes

Miss Myrtle Kennedy places a wreath on the monument in the canine cemetery, Hartsdale, N. Y., soon to be dedicated to the valiant dogs who lost their lives in the World War. Her pet, "Buster," is buried there.
